Lawyers - Aboriginal and racialized by age

- The proportion of racialized lawyers continues to increase
- For example, the proportion of South Asian, Chinese and West Asian lawyers was at 4.4, 2.4 and 0.3 percent respectively for the age group 45 to 54, while it was at 9.3, 5.2 and 2.5 percent respectively for the age group under 35
- However, the proportion of Aboriginal and Black lawyers in the 25 to 54 age groups is stable and suggests that their proportion entering the profession is not increasing
